Nestled in the fertile ground of Oregon's Willamette Valley, Carlton Farms has been a trusted premium pork and specialty meats processor for nearly 70 years, committed to placing extra care into everything we do to ensure every dining occasion becomes a memorable moment. From the ethically raised animals we source to how each product is produced, packaged and delivered by the skilled hands of people we call friends, we offer premium pork products with a personal touch for those who want to guarantee that the meals they make, make memories.

A True Difference in How the Sausage Gets Made.

When we say handcrafted, we mean it literally. We process all of our products by hand in our Willamette Valley facility staffed with highly trained butchers from our local community who adhere to the strictest of food safety protocols—guaranteeing an elevated, memorable eating experience.

- All items are hand-cut by skilled fabrication technicians and hand-packaged to ensure quality and accuracy.
- Products are kitchen-smoked and cured in-house with no artificial flavors, corn syrup, MSG or chemicals.
- Every item is crafted using recipes handed down through generations made with high-quality meat and simple ingredients.
- Experienced and skilled team offers flexibility to meet a variety of batch sizes and specialty product requests.

Animals Raised with Care.

Our commitment to quality begins with the extra care that we put into animal husbandry—from the time the animal is born all the way to harvest. Our grower partners believe in time-honored methods, raising hogs humanely in environments that offer the highest standard of well-being.

This approach is not only an extension of our values but also aligns with the growing appreciation for sustainability and animal well-being shared by you and your customers.
